

JAMES S. BLITZ

JAMES S. BLITZ, of counsel in the Washington, D.C. office of Davis Wright Tremaine, practices communications law and represents competitive telephone companies, cable television and wireless cable television system operators, cable television programmers, cellular radio operators, and television and radio broadcasters in transactional and regulatory matters. He also has experience in municipal regulation of communications (right-of-way usage issues and FCC/local preemption issues), FCC spectrum auctions for new services (such as PCS, MDS, and LMDS), and the representation of international communications carriers.

Mr. Blitz has served as chair of the Federal Communications Bar Association Foundation. Mr. Blitz' service to the Federal Communications Bar Association includes chairing its State and Local Practice Committee and its Access to FCC Records Committee. He is currently the Contributing Editor of the Multichannel Video Compliance Guide, a handbook issued by Thompson Publishing for cable television operators, municipal communications regulators, and other video providers, and was twice appointed by the County Executive of Montgomery County, Maryland to serve on the County's Cable Communications Advisory Committee.

Mr. Blitz received his J.D. from the National Law Center at George Washington University in 1981, and graduated cum laude from Dickinson College in Carlisle, Pennsylvania in 1978. He spent his junior year studying journalism at the Temple University School of Communications in Philadelphia. In 1976, Mr. Blitz was inducted into the Society for Collegiate Journalists.